TALENT SOURCING ADVISORY

I facilitate the meeting between professionals and companies, at times when both are looking for something important.

About Me

I am a Talent Acquisition consultant who built his own methodology within the worlds of headhunting, HR consulting, and professional communication.

Over the years, I have learned that an effective search does not stem solely from a job title, but from the ability to read the context: the market, the organization, the people involved, and the underlying tensions that often don't appear in the initial brief.

Today, I work as an independent advisor/freelancer for companies seeking managerial figures and senior professionals during delicate phases: growth, transformation, organizational transitions, critical replacements, or hard-to-fill roles.

My contribution is to bring methodology, in-depth analysis, and direct management of the mandate, without turning the search into a standardized process.

Schoenbech Advisory

Accepting the brief as it is.

Developing a realistic feasibility plan and helping contextualize the mandate within the market.

Considering the role in isolation.

Mapping the network of organizational interdependencies.

A static pile of PDF resumes.

Data-rich, navigable digital market intelligence.

Analytical Market Mapping

At the start of each mandate, I develop an analytical target list: a reasoned representation of the market identifying potential sourcing/scouting areas. Each mapping typically covers four dimensions:

- ✓ Cluster strategici — aziende organizzate per filiera produttiva, modello di business e prossimità competitiva al cliente.
- ✓ Perimetro geografico — aree di sourcing coerenti con sede, modello operativo del ruolo e bacini di mobilità realistici.
- ✓ Profili target — le figure più coerenti con il mandato, inclusi i ruoli adiacenti con competenze trasferibili.
- ✓ Criteri di screening — indicatori definiti ex ante, ad esempio: responsabilità gestite, framework regolatori, track record sui KPI.

The Architecture of Talent

Where that person will fit in, with which bosses, teams, internal balances, resistances, and company dynamics.

Organizational Context

Level 03: MICRO

Integrated Assessment

Combining psychometrics and semantic analysis to distinguish real aptitude from stated experience.

Professionals: Specialized and Highly Sought-after

Alongside the selection of managers, a significant part of my mandates concerns senior professionals: rare vertical skills, often invisible to traditional channels and sought-after by a few companies that recognize their value.

- ✓ Difficili da individuare — non si trovano con un annuncio, ma mappando il mercato in profondità.
- ✓ Specializzazione verticale — know-how tecnico e di dominio che in pochi possiedono davvero.
- ✓ Fortemente contesi — pochi candidati qualificati, raggiungibili solo con un approccio diretto e riservato.

The Manager as a Network Node

Part of my experience has focused on the selection of managerial figures.

A manager is never an isolated block in an organizational chart. They are a central node in a complex network: bringing in new skills does not just mean finding the right manager, but preparing the organization to welcome them.

- ✓ Overcoming the Peter Principle: avoiding promotions based solely on internal history when the role requires new skills.
- ✓ Managing historical internal figures who might hinder the integration of new leadership, thereby mitigating systemic resistance.
- ✓ Mapping existing points of friction — between functions, processes, or areas of responsibility — that a new hire tends to bring back to the surface or amplify.

Distinguishing Real Aptitude (Micro)

Standard interviews only measure the ability to present oneself.

Integrated and value-driven assessment decodes the deep drivers of human behavior by combining:

The Tools I Deploy

An integrated method to identify, engage, and assess niche candidacies.

Market intelligence and data mining — Target market analysis and mapping of comparable companies, similar roles, and professional clusters consistent with the mandate.

Assessment and psychometric reading — Big Five / NEO-PI-3 and HEXACO-PI-R to read personality, relational style, and areas to explore during the interview.

Integrated databases and GDPR-compliant data scrubbing — Shared dynamic databases and professional sources, with verification and cleaning of contacts (e.g., Lusha/Apollo/LinkedIn platforms), to transform raw lists into actionable pipelines.

Reference check and validation — Structured verification of experiences, responsibilities, and consistency between career path, motivations, and company context.

Direct sourcing and networking — Targeted search and qualified relationships to reach profiles that are invisible or not actively on the market.

Advisory output — Clear and decision-oriented candidate dossiers: motivations, soft skills, availability, risks, and points to explore further.

Assessment and Psychometric Reading

Two complementary tools, read together for a more triangulated picture of the candidate, distinguishing convergences and divergences between profiles.

✓ Big Five / NEO-PI-3

One of the most consolidated models for reading personality across five dimensions: Neuroticism, Extraversion, Openness to experience, Agreeableness, and Conscientiousness. The NEO-PI-3 measures these areas and their sub-dimensions.

✓ HEXACO-PI-R

Adds a sixth dimension, Honesty-Humility, useful for observing fairness, transparency, modesty, and a non-opportunistic orientation. It measures six dimensions: Honesty-Humility, Emotionality, Extraversion, Agreeableness, Conscientiousness, and Openness.

The value does not lie in a single tool, but in the combination of data, network, interviews, assessment, and verification. This is where search becomes advisory.

Direct and Concrete Partnership

All these complex processes are guided with the agility of a true "private consultancy".

Dialogue without intermediaries: hands-on management of the entire process.

No mechanical processes: a completely tailor-made approach.

Exclusive dedication: working on a few mandates for a truly optimized time-to-fill.

The fee positioning is consistent with a lean corporate structure and tends to be competitive.
